

A technique using GSM Voice Channel for Remote Monitoring in Solar Photovoltaic Systems

Abstract:

The present invention relates to a novel method of communication for remote monitoring using voice channel. This method can we also used widely for the communication between machines wirelessly without barrier of distance with ease. The method is very cost effective, reliable and very user friendly.

Patent application No. 1959/MUM/2013