

Lipopolymeric Nanocapsules For Delivering Hydrophobic Drugs

This invention relates to lipopolymeric nanocapsules having a fatty acid / lipid core or matrix encapsulated in at least one layer of degradable biopolymeric like alginate dialdehyde and chitosan. The matrix may encase cancer cure and inflammation drugs. Enhanced bio-availability sustained release and resistance to body fluids are characteristics of nanocapsules.

Patent application No.266/MUM/2011