

Abstract:

The present invention proposes a voltage-profile based biphasic constant current stimulator with artifact suppressor which applies pre-determined voltage profiles through a 16-bit DAC in order to force constant current biphasic stimulation pulses through an electrode-electrolyte interface.